Please see below for other areas that could be of concern:

The light effect can be quickly moved past, but this corridor is not avoidable without being taken a very different route by a member of staff, so please speak to a member of our team near the entrance before entering the lifts, if you are concerned.
- Fashion: This area features flashing lights. There are colour-changing LED strips on the floor and ceiling which flash at different speeds depending on the song that is playing, however there is no strobing. Please speak to a member of our team if you need to bypass this area.
- Impossible Festival: There are flashing lights in the phone booths that can be found in these area. These lights change colour and flash at different speeds depending on the chosen song. The phone booths can be avoided. Impossible Festival also features bright screens with sometimes flashing lights towards the end of the area, please speak to a member of our team if you wish to avoid these. There are no strobing lights in this area.
- Spirit of London ride: Some low-level slow strobing, and pulsing lights at points in the ride, but not throughout. The ride can be bypassed if necessary.

There are some UV lights in the following areas of the attraction:

- The Black Panther set in the Marvel Hall of Heroes
- On the stairs, the first set and the Darth Vader set in the Star Wars area.

Please speak to staff if you need to skip these areas.

GUESTS WITH SPINE, NECK OR BACK PROBLEMS

Although there are moments you can sit throughout the visit, the majority of the time you will be standing and walking, and in some places over uneven flooring. There are also sections of the visit that may not be suitable for you or may even create a risk of aggravating the injury. Please speak to a member of our team about the specific nature of your medical issue and we can ensure that we provide you with the opportunity to bypass areas which may not be suitable for you as well as get you a chair.
